The Pageant of Parliament.

THE KING'S SPEECH FROM A LIGHTED THRONE.

DIAMONDS—A RED TURBAN—AND ARAB HEAD-RESS.

London, Nov. 10.—The last time the King went to Westminster to open Parliament—in October last, year—he had just recovered from illness, writes a Londoner. To-day, again, special circumstances added an additional thrill to the emotion which the magnificent scene in the House of Lords of itself calls forth. One felt in the air of the brilliant Chamber the sense of a great, grave new task about to be attacked, an effort demanded by a crisis, a danger of a kind unfamiliar to this proud Parliament.

To one who had never seen it before, the filling of the Chamber was a fascinating sight. I was there early, but by 10.30 the banks of red benches already seated half a dozen peeresses, gossiping gaily.

Then, at eleven, through the door on the left of the Throne, peers and peeresses began to enter, first a trickle and soon a steady stream. It was a gay and lively sight that made one smile with sheer pleasure. The long, red robes of the peers, with wide collars and bars of ermine, lent it both dignity and pageantry.

Sparkling Tiaras.

Quickly they filled the twelve cross-benches facing the Throne, behind the Woolpack (so disappointingly plain), making a brilliant broad scarlet-and-white streak on the middle floor, like a field of gay flowers. Flanking them sat two other rows of peers. Behind these, the peeresses, in their softer, gentler colours, their hair sparkling with the jewels of their tiaras and coronets, crowded the four long tiers on either side.

Splendid beyond description was the red enclosure, like a large jury-box, devoted to the diplomats. Their uniforms and decorations composed a gorgeous harmony of diversity—gold, scarlet, green, white, blue on breast and collar and shoulders. The red turban of the Turkish rep and the white Arab head-dress, bound at the forehead with black and descending over his shoulder, of the Minister for Iraq, picturesquely interrupted one row of bare heads.

THE NEW BETTING TAX

DRAFT BILL PUBLISHED.

THREE AND FIVE PER CENT. DUTIES.

A three per cent. tax on all bets on authorised totalisators or pari-mutuels and a five per cent. tax on contributions or subscriptions towards authorised cash-sweeps, will come into force in the Colony shortly.

The draft Bill, following the lines of the Straits Settlements legislation, is published in to-day's Government Gazette.

The Ordinance is cited as the Betting Duty Ordinance, 1931, and its main provisions are as follows:

Authorisation.

Ordinary Social or sporting clubs in the Colony may, with the permission in writing in each case of the Inspector General of Police, and subject to such conditions as he may see fit to impose, conduct cash-sweeps on horse or pony races provided that not less than ninety per cent., or in the case of a club organising the race not less than eighty per cent. of the total contributions or subscriptions, after deduction of the duty shall be devoted to prizes for the subscribers.

Ordinary races, jockey or hunt clubs which organise meetings for horse or pony races in the Colony may, with the permission in writing of the Inspector General of Police, and subject to such conditions as he may see fit to impose, conduct totalisator or pari-mutuel betting on the race course premises on such races provided that not less than ninety per cent. of the total bets after deduction of the duty shall be devoted to prizes for the ticket-holders.

Allocation of Chances.

In the case of cash-sweeps organised by clubs in the Colony the chances shall be allocated by numbered tickets issued in books with or without counterfoils as the Inspector General of Police may decide.

In the case of cash-sweep organised by clubs or other bodies elsewhere, ordinary social, sporting, race, jockey or hunt clubs in the Colony as agents for the organising club or other body and with the permission in writing of the Inspector General of Police may provide lists of numbers, may sign their names as subscribers for chances, or may issue books of number-tickets to the Inspector General of Police.

No tickets, lists, receipts or other substitutes for tickets recording the numbers of the chances allocated for any cash-sweep, totalisator or pari-mutuel may be made, printed, issued, sold or offered for sale, except by or on behalf of a club which has received the permission of the Inspector General of Police under this Ordinance.

No hawkings of chances in the streets or public advertisements of cash-sweeps or of totalisator or pari-mutuel betting shall be permitted: Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall prevent the publication of results after the race in question or after any drawing in relation thereto.

The Duties.

On every bet made on any totalisator or pari-mutuel authorised under this Ordinance there shall be charged a duty of three per cent. on the amount paid, contributed or subscribed.

On every cash-sweep ticket sold and on every cash-sweep chance allocated by list as provided in section 4 there shall be charged a duty of five per cent. of the amount paid, contributed or subscribed.

The secretary, treasurer and every steward and member of the committee of management of the Club, as well as the club itself if a corporation, shall be jointly and severally liable for the duty payable.

Penalties.

Any person who, and the secretary, treasurer and every steward or member of the committee of management of any club which acts in contravention of, or fails to comply with any provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation made or condition imposed thereunder for which no other penalty is provided, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

Regulations.

Amongst the regulations made under the Ordinance are the following:

The secretary of every club organising a cash-sweep or conducting a totalisator or pari-mutuel in the Colony, or acting as agent in the Colony for the allocation of chances in a cash-sweep organised outside the Colony, shall draw up for the Collector of Stamp Revenue a statement, showing—

- (i) the number of tickets sold and the amount received in respect of the totalisator or pari-mutuel betting on each race;
- (ii) the number and value of tickets sold;
- (iii) the number and value of cash-sweep chances allocated otherwise than by ticket in respect of each race.

Delivery of Statements.

In the case of a club acting as agent as aforesaid which is permitted to issue lists instead of tickets, the statement shall be drawn up and delivered to the Collector before the lists of numbers allocated are despatched from the Colony.

In the case of cash-sweeps conducted by a club organising the race and in the case of bets on any total delivered within fifteen days after the day on which the race is held.

In all other cases the statement shall be drawn up and delivered within three days after the day on which the race is held and before any money distributed among the contributors or subscribers.

The Collector, or any person generally or specially authorised there to by him in writing, may at all reasonable times require from the secretary of every such club the production at such place as he may direct of any books, accounts, vouchers, lists, counterfoils or other documents relating to any totalisator, pari-mutuel or sweep.

Payment of Duty.

The duty required to be paid under the Betting Duty Ordinance, 1931, shall be deemed a debt and may be recovered in the same manner as Crown rents, assessments, fees or forfeitures are recovered under the Crown Remedies Ordinance, 1930, upon certificates supporting to be under the hand of the Colonial Treasurer.

Unless by agreement between any club and the Collector for the payment of duty in any other manner, the duty shall be paid by stamps affixed, printed, embossed or impressed by the Collector on each ticket or counterfoil and on each list provided for in section 4 of the Betting Duty Ordinance, 1931, before any such ticket or list is issued.

THE SMILING LIEUTENANT

EXQUISITE MUSIC AT THE KING'S.

Maurice Chevalier as a debonair
Lieutenant in the Austrian army, Claudette Colbert as the beautiful and talented leader of a women's orchestra, Miriam Hopkins as an unsophisticated but eventually entrancing princess, exquisite Viennese music by Oscar Straus, wonderful settings and skilled direction are the ingredients used by Ernst Lubitsch in the production of "The Smiling Lieutenant," which opened

Claudette Colbert is wholly convincing and charming as the leader of a women's orchestra and demonstrates that she can play the violin as well as she can play at love.
Her speaking voice is excellent and her acting superb.

Miriam Hopkins gives an amazing portrayal of the simple and dowdy princess, but what a metamorphosis when she learns to bob her hair and wear stunning clothes, including what used to be called "aether garments."

The biggest attraction, however, in "The Smiling Lieutenant" is Oscar Straus' beautiful music which pervades the whole production and will remain in our recollection long after the play and the characters are forgotten.

R.F.

GOSSIP AND FACT.

Joan Barry will make people cry when they see Mr. Alfred Hitchcock's picture, "Rich and Strange."
"I shall not be surprised," says a critic. "She made me wipe my eyes in 'Mrs. Miniver,' and it was hard to resist the pathos of her acting as the crippled beauty in
"The Outsider."

She surpasses herself, they say, in the part of the suddenly wealthy young wife who loses her heart and her head in "Rich and Strange."
If this is confirmed when you see the picture, you may think it rather rich and strange, too, that Miss Barry, with all her stage celebrity and her experience of silent films, had to insinuate herself into talking pictures by speaking the English dialogue for the Czechoslovakian girl who played the heroine in "Blackmail."

In the second Teddington film of Warner Brothers, Benita Hume is playing her last part in England before going to the United States on a contract that means many thousands of pounds for her. She is the heroine of a story to be done in English and French which has so far only its French title, "Le Soir des Rois." Mr. Boland Pertwee and Mr. John Hastings Turner have adapted this from a story by Mr.
Jerome Kingston. Martin Walker is the hero.

It is fascinating to see them making cobwebs at Elstree. They squirt them out in a thin and sticky stream, and if you come across them accidentally you would not know them from the real thing. Cobwebs

"THE HOTTENTOT" AT THE QUEEN'S.

This is a film of the successful play of the same name, and in deciding to adapt it for the screen the producers have shown excellent judgment.

The central figure is a man who has an innate fear of horses, and a hearty dislike of anything appertaining to them. He is placed in a most compromising position by falling in love with a girl who is a lover of horses and an ardent admirer of good horsemen. Matters are further complicated for the unfortunate hero by the clever scheming of a lady match-maker, who, in her ignorance of his real nature, informs everyone, including his lady-love, that he is a famous steepchase rider, so that when he arrives on a visit to his sweetheart he finds that he has a reputation to live up to. How he endeavours to overcome his fear of horses, and emerge triumphant from the ordeal by winning the great steeplechase of the year on a horse commonly considered unrideable, which he has previously bought and given to his girl as a present, make an exciting and highly amusing story.

Edward Everett Horton as Sam
Harrington, the hero, gives a capable and very clever performance.
He is ably supported by Patsy Ruth Miller, who needs no introduction to cinema goers, and a very competent cast.

of the Chinese prison wherein Dorothy Bartlam and Evan Thomas, the heroine and hero of "Tin Gods," are now filming their most elaborate love scene.

"Sky Bride," a romantic adventure of modern aviation, will be produced by Paramount with Carole Lombard, Richard Arlen and Stuart Erwin heading the cast, and directed by Norman McLeod, director of "Monkey Business."
The story is by John Blythe and is being adapted by Byron Morgan, author of so many of Wally Reid's auto racing hits.

Nine well-known players have the leading roles in Paramount's picture of Robert Louis Stevenson's
"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which Rouben Mamoulian is directing.
Freddie March plays the dual title roles. Miriam Hopkins is the street girl, Rose Hobart is Jekyll's fiancée, and others are: Holmes, Herbert,
Edgar Norton, Halliwell Hobbes, Abold Lucky, Tempe Pigott and Cpl. McDonnell.

SHOW GIRL IN HOLLYWOOD.

DIRECTOR'S OFFICE USED FOR MOVIE SCENE.

Mervyn LeRoy directed scenes for "Show Girl in Hollywood," First National's new picture starring Alice White, for three days without moving out of his office.

The rest of the company however, were there, too, as the director's office was doubling for a "set"
in this screen tale of Hollywood, which comes on Wednesday to the Queen's Theatre. LeRoy's office was only one of the many places in the studios, and in about Hollywood need for the picture. LeRoy was anxious to inject real Hollywood atmosphere, so where-ever possible he photographed actual places represented in the story.

Among these places were the Montmartre, Hollywood Boulevard, a preview of an Al Jolson picture at Warner Brother's Theatre, and celebrated dining and dancing rendezvous.

"Show Girl in Hollywood" is by J. P. McEvoy. Alice White portrays Dixie Dugan, the little Broadway musical comedy actress who comes to appear in the talkies, and Jack Mulhall is a playwright.
Blanche Sweet, Ford Sterling, John Miljan and Virginia Sale are also prominent in the huge cast.

UP FOR MURDER.

THRILLING FILM AT THE CENTRAL THEATRE.

"Up for Murder," a Universal production, yesterday opened an engagement at the Central Theatre.
It has drama, love interest, an unusually capable cast, and an atmosphere of reality which is exceptional, even in these days of uncanny realism on the screen.

"Up for Murder" tells the story of a young man who works in the mailing room of a great metropolitan newspaper, later to be promoted to the position of cub reporter. Here he falls desperately in love with the beautiful society editor of the paper, only to discover eventually that the object of his affections is the mistress of the publisher. This discovery leads to a tragedy which has a devastating effect on all the principal characters of the story, and from this point the story becomes one of most absorbing interest.

Lew Ayres is starred in this production, and fulfils the promise of a great future, which he registered not long ago in Universal's epic of the World War, "All Quiet on the

AWAY FROM STUDIOS.

WHEN STARS RISE IN THE MORNING.

With nine o'clock calls at the studio stars must arise early to prepare for work. There is usually some form of exercise on the schedule, and breakfasts ranging from a glass of orange juice to a four course meal.

The alarm clock beside Richard Arlen's bed rings at 7 a.m. His breakfast at 7.15 usually consists of fruit, two eggs cooked in various ways, toast soaked in butter, and coffee.

Ruth Chatterton.

Ruth Chatterton gives herself two and a half hours from alarm clock time to the set. Still in her pajamas, she spends the first fifteen minutes limbering up. Although there are setting up exercises coming over the radio at that hour, Miss Chatterton prefers to use her own ideas.

At 7.15 she sits down to breakfast which usually starts with grapefruit or sliced oranges. She leaves for the studio at 7.45 arriving there at eight. In her dressing room a wardrobe attendant awaits her. Miss Chatterton applies her grease paint which takes nearly forty-five minutes while the wardrobe girl sees that her costume is in proper shape. When she is ready for the set of "Once a Lady," she still has a few minutes and brushes up on her dialogue for the day. She does not report to the set at nine but waits until she is called, for there often is a delay on the first scene.

Marlene Dietrich.

When Marlene Dietrich's maids alarm rings at 5.45, the maid arises and starts coffee and then dresses.
At 6.10 the coffee and the maid are ready and Miss Dietrich is awakened and presented with the coffee.
She drinks the first cup of coffee before getting up, then arises, puts on her bathing suit and goes to the little pool she has in her back yard.
She swims around here until 6.45
then returns to the house.

At seven, she has breakfast in her negligee. The breakfast starts with coffee and includes pan cakes and sausage which she covers with syrup. The next step is a perusal of the morning newspaper and then she applies her own makeup for the set, leaving for the studio at 8.20 in a closed car, regardless of the weather, to keep dust from settling on the grease paint.

Oakie and Rogers.

Jack Oakie is a horror in his own home. If he has time o'clock call on the set of "Touchdown," he seldom considers getting up before eight. His alarm rings at 7.30 but he shuts it off and "steals" another half hour of sleep. He shaves and has a shower and by 8.30 is having breakfast of crisp bacon and eggs, tomato juice and coffee.
Ten minutes later he is speeding to the studio and gets into his costume in no time. Oakie's record is arising at 8.20 and being fully costumed on the set at 8.55. He didn't have to shave that day.

Charles Rogers arises at seven every day of the year unless he has been up all night working. He lives a short distance from a riding academy and goes for a fast ride through Beverly Hills returning home for breakfast at eight.

Anna May Wong.

Anna May Wong retains many of her Chinese tastes. Although she was born in Los Angeles, she was reared in Chinatown and retains many ancestral customs.

She is awakened in the morning at 6.45 by a Chinese gong touched lightly by her ayah. She immediately arises, dresses and goes for a walk. On her return at 7.15 she takes a shower and at 7.40 has breakfast consisting of mixed fruits, rice muffins, marmalade and tea.

She leaves for Paramount studios shortly after eight and while a girl is applying her makeup she reads the script of "Daughter of the Dragon" on the dressing table in front of her. Then she dons her costume and is ready for work.

Western Front." Here is a new star who has youth, good looks and real ability as an actor.

His supporting cast, is headed by Genevieve Tobin, a recent recruit from the New York stage, and an actress of beauty and ability.
Others who do good work in the picture are Purnell B. Pratt, Richard Tucker, Frank McHugh, and Frederic Burt.

Much of the story is told against the bustling background of a newspaper editorial room, and these scenes are so true to life that it is difficult to believe that they were filmed in a studio.

RESULTS OF WEEK-END FOOTBALL.

ARGYLL AND SUTHERLAND HIGHLANDERS CONTINUE TO WIN IN BOTH DIVISIONS.

NAVY NOW LEVEL WITH LEAGUE LEADERS: UNDERGRADUATES OVERWHELMED BY GUNNERS.

A full league football programme was carried out over the week-end when the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders made further headway in both divisions, scoring wins over Kowloon and the Club in the first and second divisions respectively.

The Navy beat Recreio by a fairly comfortable margin and by virtue of their way they are on the same level with the Highlanders; the latter, however, have a better goal average.

The games in the second and third divisions resulted very much as expected, the most outstanding being the match between the 1st Heavy Battery and 'University' when the former scored twelve times without any reply from the undergraduates.

DIVISION I.

KOWLOON v. ARGYLLS.

The Argylls were a much better team and thoroughly deserved their 3-1 victory. After some even play Lamport got the ball and passed it out to Campbell to open the scoring for the soldiers. Timberlake should have equalised a minute later but hesitated in front of goal and lost the ball. Half time came with the soldiers leading by 1-0.

On the change over, Tanson was absent from the Kowloon forward line, and Hay set his forwards in motion with a well-placed pass but a corner came to nothing. From Lamont's pass Wyllie ran in and beat Gurevitch to put the Argylls two up. Kowloon were then rewarded when Bickford ran down the line to centre to Timberlake who scored. The Argylls went further ahead when Campbell's flagkick was sent across the goalmouth for Wyllie to net from close range.

The teams were:—Kowloon: Gurevitch, London, Martin, Hedley, McKelvie, Bias, Tanson, Gillett, Timberlake; Duncan and Bickford.

Argylls:—Hastie, Blackburn, Docherty, McGlashan, Hay, Gordon, Reid, Wyllie, Campbell, Lamport and Hughes.

RECREIO v. NAVY.

The Navy succeeded in taking full points from the Portuguese after a thrilling and close-fought game and with both teams playing well there was no scoring until the close of the first half when Partington got a goal to put the Navy one up.

Skinner on the Navy left wing was responsible for a number of raids by the Navy on the resumption, but the shooting of the inside men left much to be desired. After a great run this player put his team further ahead with a splendid oblique shot. This was followed by a goal by Stephens.

Towards the close Recreio made a number of attempts to get through and were at last rewarded when B. Gosano sent in a splendid shot to beat Savage.

The teams were:—

Recreio:—McGrann, Silva-Netto, Sousa, Baltrac, Victor, Figueiredo, J. Figueiredo, B. Gosano, Rozzi, Pereira, J. Santos, E. Santos.

Navy:—Savage, Ward, Dixon, Stephens, Dharras, Poole, Robertson, Farrow, Rawson, Partington and Skinner.

POLICE v. BORDERERS.

At Happy Valley, the Borderers were lucky to win, as the Police put up an exceedingly good game. The Borderers were quicker on the ball than their opponents, and after twenty minutes took the lead through Jones. The Police attacked and Pile brought the scores level. Both defences had plenty to do, and the teams showed good football. In the second period, the Borderers did most of the attacking and scored rather a chance goal, Davies knocking the ball out of Fraser's hands and pushing the ball in. The Police set up a hot attack on the Borderers goal but were unlucky in not scoring.

The teams were:—Police: Frasca, Perkins, Brittain, Thorpe, Channing, Downman, Cornwall, Hudson, Moss, Sheppard, Pile.

S.W.B.:—Johnson, Mullane, Morrison, Morgan, Channings, Underwood, Harris, Davies, Jones, Podmore, Duncan.

DIVISION II.

KOWLOON v. NAVY.

Very even play characterized the first half of this game, there being no scoring at all.

On the resumption the Navy were on the aggressive, but it was left to Kowloon to open the scoring through Simpson. This appeared to wake up the Navy attack, for within a minute they had drawn level through Martin. Later Kirkby received and put the Navy ahead from close in.

CLUB v. ARGYLLS.

The Argylls were soon on the offensive and showed their superiority over the Club. Their skilful combination completely over ran the Club defences and they opened their account through Maxwell. A few minutes later McQuade added a second, and Cannon their third point. Continuing their pressure the Argylls notched a fourth through King.

After the interval the Argylls completely monopolized the game, and increased their score through Cannon. The Club backed up a bit towards the end and Duncan was at fault in not beating MacFarlane from close range and a fine chance went begging.

R.A.O.C. v. BORDERERS.

On the Club ground, this game was very fast and keen, and a draw would have been a better indication of the run of play. However, the Borderers managed to take the points. Mathias and Lakeman netted for the Borderers, whilst Sansom scored for the Ordnance.

12th BATTERY v. UNIVERSITY.

At Happy Valley, the Soldiers were too good for the Varsity and had a runaway victory. Their forwards were very dangerous in front of goal, especially their inside who shared the twelve goals. Gough (5), More (4) and Walker (3). Final score:—12th Bty. 12; Varsity 0.

DIVISION III.

R.E. v. R.A.F.

This match resulted in an easy win for the Airmen, by four goals to one. Reading was the most successful marksmen, scoring twice, whilst Keamish and Bulmer notched one each. Himbury obtained the R.E.'s only point.

HEIFETZ DEPARTS FOR MANILA.

NARROWLY ESCAPES
MISSING SHIP.

EXPECTS TO RETURN TO
HONG KONG IN 1934.

At 5.55 p.m. on Saturday a Daily Press representative was waiting at the head of the gangway on the President Madison for the arrival of Jascha Heifetz and his beautiful wife, formerly Miss Florence Vidor, who were due to sail at six o'clock for Manila but had not put in an appearance. At six o'clock precisely the same representative was on the quay watching the gangway being lowered, holding in his hand two letters which he had promised to post for Mr. Heifetz, and nursing a somewhat confused recollection of a headlong dash along the corridors of the ship at the heels of Heifetz, and of breathless questions asked and composed answers given en route.

Four Breathless Minutes.

The famous pair had hurried up the gangway four minutes before the ship was due to sail, and, followed by the reporter intent on his interview, proceeded straight to their luxurious suite.

When they paused to unlock the door the reporter began to introduce himself, but was interrupted by Heifetz, who, with a murmured apology and a hasty remark about having some letters to post, disappeared inside, to reappear a moment later with the letters in his hand. "Can I post a letter in Hong Kong with American stamps?" he asked, and, receiving a negative reply, proceeded in the direction of the ship's post office at the double, followed by the reporter, who pantingly asked him when he would be returning to Hong Kong. Not until 1934 or 1935," he replied, "not in the least out of breath, 'I am booked up for at least two years.'"

A Running Interview.

The post office reached, Heifetz disappeared inside, leaving the reporter to gain his second wind, and to ruminate on the agility of this versatile man.

In a few moments Heifetz emerged from the dim interior of the post office, and remarking that he could obtain no stamps there dashed back the way he had come, with the reporter bringing up the rear. By the time Heifetz's cabin was again reached he had divulged that he was going to India, Java and America, that he liked Hong Kong very much, that it was not his first visit here and that he was very pleased with his audience on Saturday night.

A momentary pause outside Heifetz's cabin door enabled the reporter, greatly daring, to remark that for Heifetz to be greeted by an audience in Hong Kong great enough to fill the biggest theatre in the Colony was a remarkable tribute to his wonderful playing. This was acknowledged with a gracious bow, and once more the great musician disappeared into the privacy of his cabin. A few seconds later he was out again, and evidently somewhat perturbed about the scarcity of Hong Kong postage stamps on an American liner.

An Amateur Postman.

Yet again he set off at the run, this time for the gangway, which was already being unlashed preparatory to being lowered. The reporter, secretly bemoaning his many cigarettes of the last few weeks, managed to gasp out an offer of his services as amateur postman by the time the gangway was reached. "You are extremely kind," said Heifetz, "Here is all the Hong Kong money I have, is it sufficient?" and handed the winded pressman two silver coins. The gangway was already moving, it looked a very long drop to the quay below, and the reporter thought that he had been sufficiently athletic in the course of duty for one day, so he placed the money in his pocket with a word of thanks, grasped the outstretched hand of this very courteous celebrity, murmured his wishes for a bon voyage, made a dive for the gangway and reached the quay at least sound in limb; the less said about wind the better.

It was on the quay, as he was watching the liner move out into the harbour, that the reporter remembered that Mrs. Jascha Heifetz, née Miss Florence Vidor, looked very beautiful in a long coat of brown tweed, with brown shoes and stockings. No, she was not wearing a bowler.

FEAR AND DISORDER IN HAINAN.

PROSPERITY DESTROYED
BY THE REDS.

Rice harvest is completed near Kachek and just beginning in Dengang and other districts farther north. On November 22 a party of farmers from Doa-mang took their guns and went out to cut their grain. They were attacked by communists and three or four killed. All through the villages there is a sense of fear, never so deep nor so persistent in all our previous experience, and a depression which hangs like a dark cloud over rich and poor alike, for money counts little in a day when life is held so cheaply as now.

The Communists Evil.

The market of Ziang-kiang, some ten or fifteen miles from Kachek, was formerly a distributing centre for trade in rice. The market itself is situated in the heart of a rice-producing district, and meets twice in every three days; to connect with Kachek market (which meets on alternate days) and the up-river markets. Four or five years ago, on an average, a hundred loads of rice went out every market day for sale in markets round about, a "load" being what one man could carry away from his currying pole, probably approximately eighty catties. Then the market was taken over by the communists. Everything—cooking, buying, selling—was to be on the communists' basis. The common kitchen was the first to fail, as distribution of food was declared to be unfair. Matters have gone from bad to worse, and now every market day twenty or thirty loads of rice have to be brought in from other markets to supply the local demand. When questions are asked concerning the reason for this scarcity, two answers are given with monotonous regularity, namely, that most of the men and boys have left their homes and gone to the "Southern Sea" (Malay Peninsula or Siam or Java) since they were not safe at home, and that many many fields are left unworked because of the ever-present danger of being shot or kidnapped if any one ventures forth to till the soil. It is of this region that a carefully calculated estimate gave two thousand six hundred as the number of houses which had been burned in the last few years. One effect of this distress in the villages is to crowd people into the markets, and in Kachek at least there are many evidences of prosperity. This can scarcely be a lasting gain if built on the ruin of the villages and the neglect of the farms, since Hainan is almost entirely dependent on agriculture to maintain its people.

An Electric Light Plant.

Kachek market is planning to have an electric light plant running by the end of the year. Some years ago an attempt was made to install a lighting plant, but the steam engine system purchased was a second-hand one and too small to be satisfactory. Now several shops belonging to a market temple have been sold and the proceeds are being used to purchase a modern lighting plant from Hong Kong. Long cedar poles are already being brought in from Hoihow by car and other preparations being made. Even the magistrate's yamen on the north of the market is to be supplied with light, and the plan is to run the engine till midnight, and possibly all night if conditions demand it.

Military Changes.

The military forces in Hainan are being reorganized and increased. The main headquarters are, of course in Hoihow, but three division headquarters with some thousand odd men under each are to be established in Kachek under the younger brother of Chun Chank in Dengang, and on the western side of the island, probably in Limko. It remains to be seen whether the forces will be large enough and mobile enough to secure and maintain peace.

EDUCATION IN HAINAN ISLAND.

PROGRESS AND SET BACKS OF THE MISSIONARY SCHOOLS.

STRUGGLE TO EXTEND BENEFITS TO WOMEN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Hainan, Nov. 28.—On October 11 the faculty and students of the McCormick School, Kachek, observed the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the school. Many of the talks given by the visitors emphasized the fact that this mission school had been the pioneer in the whole Kachek region in taking up modern methods of education. All the talks given emphasized the need for the main taining of the former standards and improvement wherever possible, now that the school had been turned over by the mission to the Board of Directors and had been registered with the government.

A Temple School.

This year 1931 marks the fiftieth anniversary of Protestant mission work in Hainan and a survey of educational conditions during that period is not without interest. Hainan of course had schools or educational work centuries before the advent of the foreign missionary, but of the old type. Perhaps a teacher of some reputation gathered a little group about him in some temple, where they coned the classics, leaped them in the road tones so different from the ordinary speech, and received no instruction in the meaning of what they learned for perhaps two or three years. Even after the revolution of 1911 a few such schools still persisted. When the writer took refuge from a sudden storm one day in an old temple, it was to find such a school in session. The old stooped teacher with his queue, his long nails and his water-pipe had a group of boys who cooked, ate, slept and studied in the temple with him, one boy even then lying on his board bed-burning up with fever. Teacher and pupils alike eyed the foreigner askance, and refused the quinine offered.

Sometimes instead of sending the children to such a school a family or a group of families would hire a tutor for the sons, and then perhaps a favorite daughter might be allowed to study with her brothers. In all the region around Kachek only one woman was found who could read and write, when women missionaries first came to the market, and she had learned at home with her brothers. She was always referred to as "Mrs. Learned" in station circles.

Missions and Women's Education.

When mission work began little groups of men would gather to study the new doctrine. Schools for boys gradually developed. In Nodoo a student in the station school passed the Triennial Examination with honour one year and many hastened to the new house of learning. A tin of kerosene in the kitchen exploded, blew the end off the building and killed the cook, and the new students decamped, taking with them some of the old students as well.

It was even more difficult to get hold of girl students. To begin with, girls were engaged and why should their own families lose the work they could do, and pay out good money besides, to educate someone who would never benefit her own family? Anyhow, girls couldn't learn. Who ever heard of a woman having brains! But the foreign women persisted, sometimes even paying little girls a few cash a day to come, sometimes gathering in little orphans or deserted girls who had no other homes, always urging Christian men to give their daughters a chance.

Progress Begins.

After the Revolution school work grew in favour and the mission schools were constantly outgrowing their buildings. Girls were allowed to come sometimes even forced to come to school—as when a young man student in the boys' school and his friend returned from the few days' leave of absence they had taken to be married, one bringing his bride in a sedan chair and the other on a pony, and turned the two weeping girls over to the principal of the girls' school with the remark, "We could not get them here before but now we have the authority. Teach them." Schools based on modern methods sprang up in villages everywhere, and in the region tributary to Kachek market about two hundred small schools were running in 1925. (This estimate was given in a private conversation lately by a man formerly connected with the local bureau of education and in a position to know whereof he spoke.)

Attacked by Reds.

When communism began its propaganda in the island schools were the first centers of attack. Patriotic societies were organized, whose members found that by joining the society they had become members of the party and were so registered at the party headquarters in Canton. Every week had one or two days of public meetings and parades, which pupils were forced to attend, and on other days small groups of boys and girls were sent out to the villages to instruct the common people in the tenets of the new order, and urge all to unite and save China. Often the Christian students were told that the movement was not anti-religious but that patriotism was the burning duty of the hour—save China from the imperialists and then worship if and as you desire. The Kachek schools were closed from 1924 to 1930 because of events following the murder of the Rev. George D. Byers, and Nodoo schools were less affected by the propaganda because of isolation and racial differences, and the Kuangchow schools kept open as long as possible. It seemed unwise to re-open in the spring of 1928, and this was most fortunate in view of the Nanking disaster and the consequent evacuation of foreigners from the island.

Government Schools.

The years 1927-1929 were the heyday of the government schools. Since absolute equality of the sexes was a basic principle of the new regime, government schools were thrown open to girls as well as boys. The step from the former seclusion to unlimited freedom was too great a one for those not able to judge where liberty ends and license begins, and not familiar with the conventions obtaining in western lands where mixed society is an established fact. It were better to draw a veil over those days the ruin of young lives in all their promise is too sad to contemplate. Parents soon awoke to the dangers and attendances at the schools dwindled. The political reversal caught many young people in its net. There are many homes to-day mourning for sons and daughters who paid the extreme penalty for their mistaken zeal, and there are many sad but wise exiles who dare not return to their homes even yet lest they meet a like fate.

Persecution.

The situation gradually cleared and mission schools reopened, only to face the problem of government registration and consequent restriction on teaching of religion in the school proper. This phase of the subject has caused most difficulty in Nodoo, where a rapidly anti-Christian incumbent of the local bureau of education forced the Nodoo schools to close and forbade the country schools to carry on in the chapels as they had done heretofore. He even caught several young women teachers of the Nodoo girls' school, held them virtual prisoners in the police court until the early hours of the next morning, and released them only when under pressure from the members of their own families they signed papers pledging themselves not to teach in the foreign school. Now however all the former mission schools are re-opened or in process of registration, under boards of directors responsible to the native church, and with individual agreements with the Presbyterian Board as to use of buildings, subsidies, etc. Religious work is carried on outside the school plant, and these few experimental years will tell whether such subsidies are or are not a legitimate use of mission funds, given primarily for evangelization.

A Set-Back.

The plight of the native village schools is however far more serious. Barely half a dozen such schools are open now where there were a hundred before. The unsettled condition of the country, the fear of bandits, the taxes imposed by the military and the compensation demanded by the communists are too much. No one dares to collect children in any school, as kidnapping would almost certainly occur. Schools in market centers where soldiers are stationed are full, but it is a safe guess that the status of educational opportunity for the common people just now has dropped back to what it was perhaps twenty years ago and that is a serious thing in a country attempting to be a republic. The quality of work offered is probably far better but only a few are able to take advantage of it, and there is little hope of improvement until the country is really quiet again.

WEDDING BELLS.

THREE CEREMONIES ON SATURDAY.

POWELL-CLEMENTS.

There were three marriage celebrations in the Colony on Saturday afternoon. At St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, Miss Doris Elizabeth Clements, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clements, was the bride of Mr. Edwin Lawrence Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. L. Powell. Both bride and bridegroom are natives of Exeter, Devon, and the bride arrived in the Colony by the s.s. Rawalpindi. The bridegroom is a young and popular member of the Sanitary Department. The Rev. W. Walton Rogers officiated.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. A. L. Powell, the bridegroom's brother, wore a white silk tight-bodied ankle-length dress, her flowing veil being lent by her sister. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose-buds.

Miss Pauline Powell and Miss Dorothy Craig, the bridesmaids, were dressed in ankle-length blue tulle frocks in the Victorian style with ribbon head-dresses and bore posies to match.

The matron of honour was Mrs. A. L. Powell. She wore a dress of purple brown nixon with hat to match. Mr. J. L. Barnes attended the bridegroom as "best man." A large number of friends were present at the reception which was held at the residence of the bridegroom's brother, 2, Cox's Path. Mr. and Mrs. Powell later left on their honeymoon which will be spent at Repulse Bay and in Macao and Canton. The bride's going-away costume was of wine red georgette with brown velvet coat and hat. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a dress ring set with amethysts and a pearl and amethyst brooch. The bride gave the bridegroom an old English brass casket. Gold brooches set with seed pearls were the gifts of the bridegroom to the bridesmaids. The happy couple were the recipients of many presents from their friends.

CHINESE UNION.

DR. KOTEWALL'S NEPHEW AS BRIDEGROOM.

A social event among the Chinese community was the marriage at St. John's Cathedral of Miss Rosie Lettice Chan, elder daughter of Mr. Chan Tat Chuen, and Mr. Percy Henry Larken, son of the late Mr. Roger Thomas Larken and Mrs. D. Larken. The Very Rev. Alfred Swann, assisted by the Rev. Paul S. F. Tso, officiated at the ceremony.

The bridegroom is a popular young business man in the Colony, being a nephew of the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, O.M.G., LL.D., and serving as assistant to the latter. He was educated at the Diocesan Boys' School. The bride received her education at St. Paul's Girls' College.

Given away by her father, the bride was attired in a handsome dress designed by Madame Flint, Au Chic Parisien. It was of white liberty satin trimmed with Spanish lace. A long satin train was attached to the shoulder of the dress under a lace cape, and brilliant adorned her orange blossom cap. A beautiful illusion veil covered the full length of her train. The bouquet was of pink roses and maiden hair fern.

As bridesmaid, Miss Phoebe Kotewall (cousin of the bridegroom) wore a long trailing Chinese dress. Her bouquet was also of pink roses and maiden hair fern. The Misses Maie and Winnifred Kotewall were flower girls, whilst Masters Arthur Lowcock and Ronald

A TENNIS INCIDENT.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir,—The following happening is probably unique. A lady playing tennis on Shamen Tennis Courts recently, drove a ball over the net, at the very moment of doing so, a dove flew low across the court. The ball hit the dove, knocking it over, not killing it but sufficiently hard to cause the ball to rebound over the net.

Would this happening count a point against the lady?—Yours truly,

NEW GRILL ROOM.

OPENING DINNER-DANCE ON SATURDAY.

GOVERNOR AND LADY PEEL PRESENT.

The new Grill Room on the first floor of the Hong Kong Hotel was officially opened on Saturday night when all available accommodation was fully taxed.

The Grill Room takes the place of the old dining room and is about three times its size, two walls having been removed to make it as spacious as possible.

The decorations are most attractive being on modernistic lines and affording plenty of light without being in the least glaring. The dining tables occupy the space of the old dining room and Bessie's Bar, while the rest of the Grill Room—that portion directly over the former cafeteria—is given up to dancing, a placquet dance floor having been laid in this part of the grill. A Cocktail Lounge is situated on the verandah.

Opportunity was taken of the opening of the Grill Room on Saturday night to hold a dinner dance in aid of the Women's Guild and Ministering Children's League, under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel, who were among the diners.

A special feature of the party last night was the specially decorated table at which sat the Governor's party. The decoration scheme was pink and was very tastefully carried out. Another feature was a buffet in the form of a fountain. Music during dinner was supplied by the Hong Kong Hotel Band, while Ronnie True and his Band played for the dancing which followed.

Lang (godsons of the bridegroom) were pages. The bride's mother attended in Chinese ceremonial dress.

Mr. James E. Kotewall discharged the duties of "best man." A reception was held at Messrs. Lane, Crawford's Restaurant which was attended by many of the prominent business men among the community, there being about 350 guests. The Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, in proposing the principal toast, touched on the good qualities of the couple and heartily congratulated them on behalf of the gathering. Dr. Kotewall, who also spoke, and how pleased he was at the marriage of his nephew, who he regarded as a son and was a very good assistant to him in his business and public affairs. He thanked the guests for honouring the marriage reception.

The couple left on their honeymoon at Repulse Bay, the bride travelling in a fashionable Chinese dress.

CUSTOMS OFFICER WEDDED.

COLLIER-EDMUNDSON.

The Rev. W. Walton Rogers also officiated at the marriage in St. Andrew's Church of Miss Eleanor Edmundson, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Edmundson, of Sunderland, and Mr. Harry Bernard Collier, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, of Surrey, the bridegroom being on the staff of the Chinese Maritime Customs.

Mr. V. H. Petherick gave away the bride, who was dressed in white satin, with ring veil, and not to match. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The matron of honour was Mrs. V. H. Petherick, who was attired in a dress of blue floral georgette with blue felt hat to tone.

Mr. Charles Temlett carried out the duties of "best man."

A reception was held at 246, Nathan Road, Kowloon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Collier left for Repulse Bay on their honeymoon. Mrs. Collier's travelling dress was of blue corded silk, trimmed with grey fur, with hat and shoes to match.

POOR DAY FETE.

BRISK BUSINESS AT THE BAZAAR STALLS.

MOTOR CAR DRAW.

The Bazaar organized by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul in aid of the Poor of Hong Kong took place in the compound of the Roman Catholic Cathedral yesterday and was a great success. Flags and other decorations ornamented the stalls and there was a general festive appearance when business began at about 3.30 p.m. Although cloudy, the weather was fine.

Mr. H. Dixon was the chairman of the Bazaar Committee. A hard-working band of ladies and gentlemen, assisted by many children, whose persuasive appeals to take a chance in this or that draw it was hardly charitable to ignore, combined by their efforts to realise a very gratifying sum in aid of this worthy cause.

Stalls Everywhere.

The stalls were on the same lines as last year. On one side were the Children of Mary Stall, the Choir Stall, and other attractions supervised by young ladies. There was a stall for the sale of cigarettes and sweets near the entrance, and here also were 30-cent and higher priced lucky chances which gave the winners packets of chocolates and toys worth several times the outlay. The American Stall, in the vicinity, was arranged with a host of things for which tickets were sold at a dollar.

On the right hand side there were many attractions. Ten-Cent Stalls, Flower Stalls, Lucky Slices of Cake and Souvenirs all calling for their customers. The C.Y.M.S. Stall was supervised by a number of young men who were kept occupied by those who readily entered into the spirit of the fun. There were valuable prizes for those who were lucky to manipulate hoops round bottles of liquor, hot-water flasks and clocks. Ten-cent pieces thrown into squares on a board fetched souvenirs of varying value. Dai throwing also provided a pleasant diversion.

Guess the Weight!

The needs of the inner man were attended to at the Dairy Farm Stall which occupied the far end corner as in former years. Turkeys paraded in their cages, while nearby two little pigs worried the goose which had to share their quarters. The fat goose was the prize for those who succeeded in guessing the weight of a massive ham hanging from the roof of the stall for which a guess cost only 20 cents. Dairy delicacies adorned the counters and one dollar chances carried prizes for all.

The chief attraction of the bazaar was the Ford Victoria Coupe which was there for all to see. Tickets at three dollars each commanded a brisk sale, and there were five consolation prizes for other winners. Shanghai Bank assisted the Bazaar Committee in counting the takings and the "Bank" had a very busy time.

A pretty effect was seen at night when the compound and stalls were lit with streamers of coloured lights. Business proceeded merrily until about 11 p.m. when a large gathering waited for the result of the motor car draw.

PRIZE DRAW.

Mr. G. C. Loney, of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, was the winner of the first prize (motor car) with ticket No. 1182.

The following were the numbers of the other five winning tickets:—

2nd		Ticket No. 2955
3rd		" " 730
4th		" " 2741
5th		" " 1283

The "Bank" receipts at the close amounted to a little over $8,000. Some cash bags, however, had still to come in.

BRITAIN'S TARIFF WALL

INSIGNIFICANT IMPORTATION OF FOREIGN GOODS

French Surtax Damaging British Interests

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUBBY, Dec. 4.

The House of Commons today discussed a motion approving the recent order by the Board of Trade under the Abnormal Importations Act imposing a fifty per cent. ad valorem duty on various classes of imports.

The Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, Mr. Horo Bolitho, said the orders had been exceedingly effective and imports of articles mentioned in the two orders had practically ceased. Since the operation of the order only 235,000 had been taken in custom duties which showed how insignificant had been the import of these articles.

Answering criticism, which came mainly from the Labour benches, the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, pointed out that the policy of excluding certain articles was dictated solely by the need of lessening the strain upon Britain's purchasing capacity abroad caused by importations far in excess of recent experience, and the orders were general and not directed against any country or countries.

He denied that the policy was likely to lead to international friction, and reminded the House that the French decree, imposing a fifteen per cent. discriminatory duty, preceded the announcement of the action by the British Government.

French Decree.

Dealing with the French decree, Mr. Runciman said it was against all exports from Britain to France, and not merely against coal. The British Government was amazed to find that Britain was not to receive the most favoured nation treatment which she had received from France for two generations, although there had been no treaty obligation, and that France was even discriminating against Britain. The attention of the French Government had been drawn to the matter.

Protests Useless.

Referring to the increase of tariffs which were shifting out British goods from former markets, Mr. Runciman said British Governments had made successive appeals against these barriers but in spite of the findings of the World Economic Conference of 1927, endorsed by representatives of over fifty countries, they found their protests were useless and were met always by the same reply that the internal interests of the country must be the first consideration of a Government. That was the reply he made today. Methods of persuasion had proved useless.

Britain Must Take Notice.

Mr. Runciman added: "I wish it clearly understood abroad, as well as at home, that if we are to be hit, as we have recently been hit by the French decree, we cannot ignore it. I hope we shall be able to adjust our differences in a friendly way, but discrimination against this country is a thing which we look at with seriousness. Were it to spread it would be so damaging to British interests that we could not afford not to take notice of it."

The motion was carried by 230 votes to 38.

The Ottawa Conference.

RUBBY, Dec. 5.

The tariff problem was referred to in a speech by the Chancellor of the Exchequer at Newport last night, when he frankly welcomed the desire expressed by other countries for a friendly and mutual discussion of tariffs, but said he, no binding agreement could be concluded until after the Ottawa Conference. Britain must claim the right, exercised by other countries, to direct her fiscal policies according to her own interests.

French Surtax.

The recent French surtax on British exports, he pointed out, was peculiarly damaging to the British coal industry, because it did not apply to some of Britain's principal competitors quoting their prices in depreciated sterling, and it came on top of a strict import rationing system. The British Government had made strong representations to France, and he trusted that these representations would very shortly receive due consideration.

He saw no reason why depreciation of value of sterling should be substantial or prolonged, but a satisfactory settlement of the reparations problem would do more than anything else to remove the nervousness now so widespread over the world.

Why Sterling Fell.

The various causes which had led to the recent depreciation in the internal value of the £ were referred to last night by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who said that one of the chief causes was, perhaps, the general uneasiness of foreign holders of sterling balances in London, who saw hanging over Europe a cloud of uncertainty about the future, and who thought they would be more comfortable if they had liquid resources at some place where they would be available at short notice. He had no doubt that those foreign holders of sterling balances, who had been taking their funds away from London, would presently find they had made a bad bargain.

Balance of Trade.

The Conservative leader, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, in a speech at Aberdeen, today emphasised the urgency of effecting trade balance without which, he said, there could be no stabilisation of currency. He commented on the remarkable steadiness of the internal value of the £ and declared that there was no cause for anxiety. He hoped the steps which had been taken might correct, in the immediate future, what plainly had been a growing peril. Government was now engaged in examining the whole question of the balance of trade.

Referring to the recent fluctuations of sterling he said the explanation was simple: "We are getting to peak point of the seasonal demand for British currency to pay for commodities which we always import in enormous quantities during the autumn and, on top of that, you must remember that there has been an unusual amount of imported manufactures, which have been sent into this country in intelligent anticipation of what may subsequently make their entry more difficult. That has to be paid for, and is an extra burden on the exchanges. But we are taking steps to deal with it."

Dealing with general political questions, Mr. Baldwin said the Election had shown to the world that no country could face up to a crisis with greater courage, determination and fortitude than Britain. The National Government must never be betrayed. It had been returned to carry out a policy of national reconstruction, and that carried with it international reconstruction. The country expected every political party to co-operate with the sole object of bringing back better times, and whatever party wantonly broke up that accord would be condemned in the eyes of the electorate. His efforts would be directed to the smoothing of party differences.

In the Commons.

Further discussion of means contemplated to meet the economic situation will dominate the proceedings of the House of Commons next week. Before the House rises for the Christmas recess on Friday, Government will make a definite announcement on agricultural policy which, it is anticipated, will include the acceptance, not only of the principle of the quota for home grown wheat but of the quota of wheat imported from the Dominions and used by British millers. This will leave the way clear for discussions regarding details with the Dominions before the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in July.

Government has also allocated time for a debate on Wednesday on the application of emergency duties, under the Abnormal Importations Act, to imports of iron and steel and cotton, goods, particularly cotton piece goods.

NAZI MISSION TO DEFEAT BOLSHIEVISM

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Dec. 5.

In view of the forthcoming international discussions on Germany's debts and the possibility of an early change in the Government of Germany, the newspapers are giving prominence to a statement by Herr Hitler, the Nazi leader, in Berlin yesterday, in the course of which he drew a gloomy picture of Bolshevism in Germany.

He said that the Nazis felt it to be their mission to defeat Bolshevism.

He claimed that the Nazi Party had a membership of 700,000 with 15,000,000 adherents, and there was not the slightest doubt that the Party would attain power before long.

He emphasised that Germany could not pay their political and commercial debts without exporting on a large scale, which would lead to world-wide economic chaos.

The Nazis were prepared to repay commercial debts, but refused to submit to political extortions. His aim, when he obtained power, would be to reduce the huge political imports, and limit political German administrative apparatus, obligations.

REIMPOSITION OF GOLD BAN

HEAVY BUYING OF STERLING IN JAPAN

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Dec. 5.

Apparently due to the belief that reimposition of the gold ban was imminent, sudden heavy buying of sterling occurred today. Whether the belief is justified is impossible to say, though it is known that Mr. Adachi, Home Minister, whose statement advocating the formation of a National Government caused great sensation recently, is firmly convinced of the necessity of an embargo in spite of strong opposition from Mr. Inouye, Finance Minister.

UNIFICATION OF CHINA

Canton Delegates Leave for Shanghai

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

CANTON, Dec. 6.

The 4th Kuomintang National Congress in Canton, after having been in session for a fortnight or so, was formally adjourned yesterday. The closing address was delivered by Mr. Hu Han Min, who appealed for national unity and solidarity in accordance with the political principles of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen. The number of delegates and guests at the closing meeting exceeded 400.

A manifesto was issued following the closing of the Congress. The statement deals largely with the reconstruction of China according to the principles of the Kuomintang.

Messrs. Hu Han Min, Sun Fo, General Li Tsung Jen, and Dr. C. C. Wu left here today for Hong Kong on their way to Shanghai to meet the representatives of the Nanking Government with a view to forming a new United National Government at Nanking. The party from the South will not, however, proceed to Nanking unless they are assured that Chiang Kai Shek is going to retire as he had promised. The unification of China hinges on the retirement of Marshal Chiang Kai Shek, as far as Canton is concerned.

Resolutions Adopted.

CANTON, Dec. 4.

The publicity section of the Secretariat of the 4th National Kuomintang Congress informs us that the 11th regular session of the 4th National Kuomintang Congress was held at 9 a.m. on the 4th in the Chungshan Memorial Hall under the Presidency of Messrs. Sun Fo, Chiang Hsiang Yi, Teng Tark Yu, C. C. Wu, Li Yang King, Wong Cho Yeh, Yao Se Chang and Kwan So Yeh, and was attended by 431 delegates and 123 observers.

The following resolutions were adopted:—

That the draft manifesto to be issued at the conclusion of the 4th National Kuomintang Congress be adopted.

That the number of proposals having been investigated by the various sections be handled by the members of the C.E.S.C. of the 4th National Kuomintang Congress.

That all military troops throughout the country be put under the direct or indirect control of the Executive Yuan; and

That the post of Commander-in-Chief of Land, Air and Navy be not retained in ordinary times.

The following new members of the Central Executive and Supervisory Committees, who were elected at the 11th Session, were then officially announced:—

LONDON, Dec. 4.

Emilio Scala, the Italian café-keeper, who drew an Irish Sweep ticket on Grakle, winner of the Grand National this year, has established his claim as sole owner in the Dublin Court after a long hearing. Two Italian hair-dressers sued him claiming to be partners in a quarter of the ticket which remained after Scala had sold three-quarters of it to a bookmaker before the race. A quarter share was worth £88,000. The costs of the case exceeded £30,000. Counsel for defence protested against the judge's decision that Scala should pay his own costs, but his Lordship warmly declared that, notwithstanding the Court's judgment, Scala had perjured himself up to the hilt.

DR. ALFRED SZE TO CARRY ON

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

PARIS, Dec. 5.

The committee of the "Chinese colony in Europe," in a manifesto published what is claimed to be the text of Dr. Alfred Sze's letter of resignation.

The manifesto states that a mass meeting of Chinese, held in the Latin Quarter last night, expressed disappointment at the attitude of Dr. Sze and "the powerlessness of the League to settle the Manchurian question." The manifesto declares that, at the conclusion of the meeting five delegates called on Dr. Sze at midnight and submitted to him five resolutions, whereon Dr. Sze who "had hoped to conciliate the contradictory attitude of the Government and the people," allegedly sent in his resignation.

The Chinese delegation headquarters issued a statement this evening explaining that Dr. Sze offered his resignation as demanded by the delegates of the Chinese colony exactly as stated in the Chinese Colony Committee's manifesto.

NOT ACCEPTED

A reply has been received from the Nanking Government stating that they will not accept the resignations of Dr. Sze and Dr. Wellington Koo.

The Council, without the Chinese and Japanese delegates, met at 4 p.m. and dispersed at 5.15.

"INDICATION OF BAD FAITH"

TOKYO, Dec. 5.

As the Japanese army's withdrawal from Mukden, after operations in the direction of Chinchow on November 27 was due to the assurance that the Chinese were prepared to withdraw their troops voluntarily within the Great Wall, Nanking's reported rejection of the proposal of a neutral zone, it is feared, will have the most unfortunate effect on the Japanese military authorities who regard it as an indication of "bad faith" on the part of China. "If the Chinese think the Japanese withdrawal eastward makes it no longer necessary for the Chinese to withdraw westward they are greatly mistaken, emphatically declared a spokesman who expressed doubt at the Japanese Government's ability to hold the army in check if the Chinese fail to carry out their part of the bargain.

Owing to increasing banditry westward of Mukden, it is authoritatively learned that the military authorities are planning a drive on a small scale to clear the districts east of Liao River.

CRAIGENGOWER AND R.A.S.C. BRING OFF SURPRISE WINS.

Four league cricket matches were decided over the week-end, of which only one was not brought to a definite conclusion—the Navy-Club match, which took place on the sailors' ground at King's Park. Thanks to a fine bowling feat by Lieut. A. H. Musson, the Artillery scored an easy win over Civil Service Cricket Club while the matches in the second division resulted in wins for R.A.S.C. and Craigenower over Police Recreation Club and South Wales Borderers respectively.

Three friendly matches were played but these all resulted in the teams concerned sharing honours.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

ARMY LOSE TO CLUB IN TRIANGULAR TOURNAMENT.

GAME MARKED BY FINE PLAY ALL-ROUND.

The first of the series of rugby matches in the triangular tournament was played at Sookunpoo over the week-end when the Club beat the Army by a goal, a dropped goal, and three tries (16 points), to a goal and a try (8 points).

The Club, started off in dashing style and scored nine points after as many minutes' play. This seemed to put the Army out of their stride, but they rallied later and proved dangerous on several occasions.

Dunlop at full-back for the Army, played a great game but Whitham did not play his usual game and failed to find touch several times.

The Club three-quarters handled well throughout. Selby was prominent at the base of the scrum and worked the "blind side" to advantage. Hoskins, his opposite, worried him occasionally, and gave his three-quarters a good share of the ball, but their attack was wanting.

Lammert Scores.

The Army forwards were a rousing lot and dangerous in the loose. Prior, Grayham and Suter being outstanding. The Club forwards were well led by McElney and carried the early scrums, but failed to keep up the good work.

A few minutes after the kick off Lammert steadied himself and dropped a goal which took the Army by surprise. Shortly after Griffiths obtained Club's second score, McElan adding the major points.

With the Club drawing blood so early on it looked as if it was going to be a one-sided affair, but a spirited rally by the Army carried play into Club territory, when Keith Murray scored a try.

Stevens and Hamilton were giving the Club some anxious moments and were forced to defend.

Selby's Try.

After the interval Selby came in to the picture with a clever movement which resulted in a try. The Club kept up the pressure and their efforts were rewarded when Lammert scored far out. Shortly after the same player registered his second try.

Nothing daunted the Army kept up a pressure and just before the final whistle Hoskins broke away from the base of the scrum, near the Club line, and baffled the opposition to score a clever try. Stevenson converted with a beautiful kick. The final scores were:—Club 18 points; Army 8 points.

The teams were:—

Army:—Lt. Dunlop; Pte. Lewis, Lt. Hamilton, Lt. Stevenson, Pte. Keith Murray; Pte. Stevens, Pte. Hoskins; Lt. Prior, Lt. Stevens, Lt. Grewe-Read, L/C. Hardy, Pte. Gilmore, Cpl. Suter, L/Cpl. Trotter, Lt. Grayham.

CHINA FLOOD RELIEF.

PURCHASE OF MATERIALS PROCEEDING WELL.

London, Nov. 25.—Interviewed by Reuter's Agency on his return from a mission to Italy to supervise the purchase of material for the relief of floods in China, to be paid from the Italian part of the Boxer indemnity, Dr. Wang said he had been in Milan for three weeks and had spent $50,000 on material for making dykes and canals generally to relieve the flooded areas on the Yangtze.

Dr. Wang said the work of the London Commission was progressing splendidly. The British and Chinese members were co-operating very happily, and orders from China were being executed as speedily as possible without difficulty. All the material required was being obtained from British firms, and there was an excellent prospect for the success of the whole scheme.

CLOSING DAY FESTIVITIES.

The "At Home" given by the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club on Saturday to mark the closing of their lawn bowls greens for the season, was a great social event which brought together their friends from the other sporting institution and some visitors from the ships which periodically "go into dock." The gallant bandmen of H.M.S. "Hermes," which vessel was recently under the attention of the shipbuilders when they were not engaged on the bowling greens, paid their hosts the compliment of turning out to make the afternoon more pleasant. Bandmaster E. R. Long, R.M.B., offered a programme of music which was much appreciated by the gathering and the bandmen were heartily cheered at the close.

In maintaining their traditional hospitality, the ladies worked very hard to entertain their guests and the ten tables arranged with good things contained many home-made delicacies. The President of the Bowls Association, in thanking the ladies, had to admit that it was the excellence of the tea which enabled him to win a souvenir spoon!

A lawn bowls game was played on five rinks between teams representing the President and Vice-President. Mr. J. V. Ramsay acted as deputy for the President (Mr. J. C. Brown) and Mr. T. Coleman was the leader of the Vice-President's team. The President's team were favourites for the souvenir spoons until almost the end, but P. C. Goodman's rink turned the scales in favour of the Vice-President by bagging a six on the last head which gave his side victory by four shots. Goodman's majority on his rink was 32 shots, and he began the game by scoring seven shots.

Club President's Welcome.

Prizes won in the bowls competitions during the season were presented by Mrs. Brown, wife of the President. Before calling on her to do so, Mr. Brown expressed his pleasure at welcoming the guests and said he was very pleased that the weather had been so good as to assist in such a good attendance on lawn bowls closing day. He felt sure that the guests and members had enjoyed themselves well, but so far as the game was concerned he was sorry at the result!

Dealing with the League activities, Mr. Brown said that the bowls team had had luck during the early part of the season. Although they pulled up during the latter half, he hoped that they would finish at the top next year.

Continuing, he said he must congratulate Kowloon C.C. on winning the Senior League Shield. He was glad that the Shield was won by a Kowloon team, and he hoped it would remain in Kowloon for a long time to come. He also congratulated Craigongower on winning the Spey Royal Cup, adding that they played very well in reversing the result of the previous year when Kowloon Dock were in the final and won.

After the distribution of souvenir spoons and the season's awards, Mrs. Brown was presented with a bouquet of flowers in a silver holder by little Miss Joyce Sturgeon. Three cheers were accorded to her on the call of Mr. A. O. Brawn, President of the local Lawn Bowls Association.

Mr. Brawn, speaking on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Club for providing such a pleasant afternoon. He also thanked the ladies who attended to the tea arrangements, and he thought that it was the excellent tea which was responsible for his winning a souvenir spoon! He announced that next Saturday the Kowloon Bowling Green Club would hold their closing day, when he hoped to see many there from Kowloon Dock. On this occasion the record-board will be unveiled and Kowloon Dock was prominent on it.

He also asked those present to purchase a copy of the new publication on lawn bowls, the profits accruing from which will be donated to St. Dunstan's. It was a useful book whether one sat with it in the North of Scotland or the West of Cornwall.

Season's Awards.

The following were the results in the lawn bowls section:—

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.
SPIRITUAL REALITY.

"God the only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 6.

The Golden Text was—"Hear, O Israel. The Lord our God is one Lord, and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might." (Deuteronomy 6: 4, 5).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible—"Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my son, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it, I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded." (Isaiah 45: 11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy—"God creates all forms of reality. His thoughts are spiritual realities. So-called mortal mind—being non-existent and consequently not within the range of immortal existence—could not by simulating deific power invert the divine creation, and afterwards recreate persons or things upon its own plane, since nothing exists beyond the range of all-inclusive infinity, in which and of which God is the sole creator." (P. 513).

Nerves

Neurasthenia (nerve-weakness) has been called the "disease of the 20th century." It is estimated that 95% of the population suffer from it. Trembling of the hands, irritability, restlessness are a few symptoms; so are sleeplessness, stomach trouble, lack of energy. All are due to one cause—weakness of the nerve-cells. It follows then, the only logical way to conquer these complaints is to strengthen the nervous system.

You can do that with Sanatogen. As a well-known physician has stated: "Sanatogen goes right to the core of well-being viz., the cells and builds these up into a fabric of lasting health." Sanatogen feeds the cells of the body with the exact proportion of those elements—glycophosphate and albumin—from which new nerve-strength is derived.

After a short course of Sanatogen nerve-weakness will disappear and very soon you will feel radiantly healthy again—strong and energetic—with a keen appetite and a new joy in life. Start taking Sanatogen to-day and notice its wonderful influence on your health.

SITTING BULL IN WINNING VEIN.

WINS NOVEMBER HANDICAP FROM GLENEAGLES.
WISDOM STAG RUNS INTO THIRD PLACE.GLORIOUS STAG PAYS DIVIDEND
OF $83.

[BY MORNING DEW.]

Mr. R. A. Proulx, riding Sitting Bull, made no mistake about the November Handicap at the Thirteenth Extra Race meeting on Saturday. Mrs. Dunbar's candidate ran with the field in a very fast race and drew out to win in a canter in the straight. Gleneagles finished second and Wisdom Stag third. Apollo did not start in this race and there is now little likelihood of him meeting Sitting Bull in the Autumn champions next week.

Honours were very evenly divided among the jockeys. Messrs. Frost, Proulx, and G. U. de Roza rode two winners each, while Mr. Caplan brought home Glorious Stag in the first race of the day to pay the biggest dividend of the afternoon. The Novice event was won by Mr. Butler who steered home Grey Dawn to oust a big favourite in Wise Stag by a head.

II. To the Governor, Sir William Peel, arrived just before the fourth race and stayed throughout the remainder of the afternoon.

CYCLAMEN BAY WINS FROM VALOROUS.

Heliotrope Leaf ridden by Mr. Stanton, was a big favourite for the first race of the day Essex Handicap over a mile. The pony was unplaced. Glorious Stag led all the way home and in so doing paid the biggest dividend of the afternoon. Movannagher, with Mr. Frost up, made a great burst after turning into the straight, but had the misfortune to be hemmed in. Mr. H. C. Lee on Sonny Boy made a belated burst over the last furlong and, finishing strongly, took third place to pay his supporters $48.70 for a place.

Surrey Handicap.

Pride of Tsingtao ran the second race exactly in the same manner as Glorious Stag ran the first. The pony led a field of eight all the way home. The public gauged this race very well, the favourite carrying the bulk of the betting with Bright Star next in demand. Bright Star finished second with Ataman a very good third. Tiana was fourth. Lobster Bay, which made such a good show against The Tiger last week, failed to repeat his excellent performance and was unplaced.

Sussex Plate.

The Tiger carried all the money in the third race over a mile where there were only five starters. The only pony to make any kind of an impression among the punters was King's Counsel which, taking advantage of a flying start, set a fast pace throughout, but The Tiger was very fit and put up a gallop of 2 minutes 2.4 seconds over the mile to win by two and half lengths. Paul Pry was third.

November Handicap.

Mrs. Dunbar sent out Sitting Bull in this race and Mr. Dunbar sent out Gleneagles and Elliot Bay. The remaining starters were Wisdom Stag and King's Counsel. Elliot Bay set a fast pace and led over the first mile but into the straight he was passed first by Sitting Bull and then by Gleneagles and Wisdom Stag. The three ponies finished in that order, there being three lengths between Sitting Bull and Gleneagles and a similar distance between the latter and Wisdom Stag.

Suffolk Handicap.

Mr. R. H. Charles riding Sunning made a big effort to win the Suffolk Handicap over the mile, but the mare could not stay long enough and over the last furlong had to give way to Choctaw II ridden by Mr. G. U. de Roza. Choctaw II was well fancied and Mr. Roza kept him in front with Sunning throughout the entire race. Brown Eyes, ridden by Mr. Fung, took third place.

Middlesex Handicap.

Mr. Dunbar's Cyclamen Bay had to go all out to win this event from Valorous ridden by Mr. Pan. The former, had a flying start and led all the way home. Valorous, who was not so fortunate at the gate, had to pick up several lengths and found the struggle for leadership in the straight a bit too much for him. Another of Mr. Dunbar's candidate, Fortune Bay, finished third. Mrs. Dunbar sent out Sam Houston here, but this pony could not make any kind of a show and finished with the tail-enders.

Norfolk Plate.

Grey Dawn was very well-ridden to account for Wise Stag, a big favourite in the Novice race. The pace was set by Edensbridge, which led into the straight hotly pressed by Wise Stag. It appeared as if the race would rest between these two, when a few yards from home several ponies drew up with the leader and made an interesting finish of it. At one stage Vamoose was leading on the rails, but a few yards further, Grey Dawn and Wise Stag had passed him again, and just before crossing the line, Blue Heaven came up with a great rush to take the third place.

Kent Handicap.

Orlando and Christmas Bella were all the rage in the last race over seven furlongs, the former because he is known as a fast sprinter and the latter because he was in very good form. The Plover, ridden by Mr. G. U. de Roza surprised them both and in spite of an attempt to run away by Orlando, he kept within striking distance all the way, and, coming in to his own in the straight, won as he liked. Christmas Bella made a very big effort in the straight to come within by two lengths.
